THE H. C. MURRAY CO.

DANIELSON

for the long planned event and enter into the spirit of the Old Home week with a zeal which assures the success of the occasion.

The Central Congregational church was taxed for room to accommodate those who desired to attend the service Sunday morning.

Rev. D. E. Dodge, offering prayer and the service, was assisted by Rev. H. M. Bartlett, the sermon life in the Old Church from the text Pa. lxxvii, 10-12.

Deep interest as he reviewed the history of the aged church and its work in the community. There was a service of worship and praise in the afternoon at the lake sacred concert was given at which there was a very large attendance.

The Congregational church, "the old church of the town," was organized, so far as actual dates are concerned, about 1712 or 1713, as it was in the former year that the petition was made to the general court for a church in the town of Danielson.

But there are some who believe that a minister was stationed in Coventry at least two years previous. They say that the Rev. Joseph Meacham, who was in charge of the church for 40 years. His wife was Esther Williams, daughter of the famous Rev. Dr. Henry Smith of Deerfield, Mass.

In the village cemetery there is a stone erected which tells of her experience when a young girl. When 12 years old and residing in Deerfield she was captured by the Indians in the road on that place in 1704 and carried off to Canada, where she lived the life of the Indians for 10 years, but escaped and returned to her home.

After married Rev. Joseph Meacham. In May, 1778, a petition was sent from the people of Coventry to the court in Windham asking that a site be selected for a new meeting house to meet the demands of the increasing population. A committee was appointed by the court, but the site selected was not satisfactory to the people, who the following year petitioned the general court of the state to change the location to one opposite the green as a site "more commodious and pleasant."

The site was then chosen, and the church was built, occupying the same until Jan. 21, 1897, when it was burned.

The coming of manufacturing and the building of mills along the stream, the population of the town began to shift, and the more thickly settled portion became what is now known as the village of Danielson.

Many of the residents who then lived in the village, finding that the old church was not large enough, favored the erection of a new one. This was opposed by some of the older people and resulted in a split, and services were held in the village in 1848, and the church built and dedicated in 1849.

The village church, as it was then known, became very largely attended, but services were still held in the old church until May, 1886, when it was practically discontinued.

For the next 20 years, the records of the reuniting and the turning over of the papers and money from the old church to the village church and the building of the new church, the Congregational church of Coventry was perfected.

The town of Coventry was included in the territory given by Joshua, as shown by the records of the town, and men who in turn conveyed their right to William Plim, Joseph Talbot, William Whitely, Richard Lord and Nathaniel Rust. It was on May 8, 1706, that the first meeting of the committee by the general court to lay out the town into lots.

The original map showing the manner in which this was done is in the files of the town. It shows that they were generous in their highways, as the principal road was 20 rods wide, but has shrunk until today it is little better than the foot path of a mile.

Even at that time they found some lone pioneer who had cleared the forest and had commenced farming on the south shore of the lake. Samuel Burdett was the first settler of the town. It was not, however, until Oct. 11, 1711, that the general court accepted the report and decided to call the place Danielson.

This name was chosen, tradition says, because of the similarity of the location of the land to that of Coventry, which was a village in England. The same as that of the town from which it was supposed to have taken its name. At the same session at which the town was named permission was granted for the purchase of land, and the right given to lay a tax. The first record of a town meeting appears as held on June 2, 1712.

Today there is a general social tone in the homes of the people of the town. In the evening at the Second Congregational church, the Danesakers will be present for the first time under the direction of Charles W. Lee of Coventry. There are many people who will take part in it and they have been working hard for a long time getting ready for it. Much excitement and the entertainment and it will be repeated in South Coventry Thursday night.

Notes.
George Lincoln, Thomas and Rev. and Mrs. G. Dodge of Norwich visited the grounds on Saturday.

NORTON-BLACKMAR.
Military Wedding at Attawapung Under Interesting Circumstances.

On Saturday afternoon, Miss Mae Blackmar, daughter of Charles Sumner Blackmar of Attawapung, was united in marriage with Lieut. George Somers Norton of the ordnance department of the United States army.

Lieutenant Norton's home is in Allston, Mass. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. James H. George, Jr., pastor of St. Alban's church.

The ceremony, performed in the presence of only near relatives of the bride and groom, took place at the Blackmar home in Attawapung.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Deane of this place was an unusually fitting one for the ceremony, since it is bound to the family of the bride by many ties of sentiment. The bride, where her marriage vows were pledged the bride's father and mother were married in 1887; in the same room also her grandfather and grandmother were married in 1831, and later celebrated the 50th anniversary of their wedding there; and here also her great-grandfather and great-grandmother, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Blackmar, celebrated the golden anniversary of their wedding in 1873.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Norton left after the ceremony for Rock Island arsenal, Rock Island, Ill., where Lieut. Norton is to take up work lately assigned him.

Mrs. Norton was well known in Killingly, where she has a host of friends. She is a graduate of Killingly high school and for several years has been a teacher.

Samuel Geer and Simon Brewster, Jr., attended the agricultural meeting at Elmwood last week.

Frank Williams, the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Williams, is seriously ill. Misses Marian Paul and Edna Potts spent a few days in Mount last week.

Frank Geer has Japan millet which is six feet six and one-half inches tall.

Thieving Children.
All the apples on Mrs. E. S. Brown's farm were stolen recently by children, and Officer Cline took 30 of them into custody. They were obliged to settle. Milk receptacles, flowers and fruit have been stolen on Tracy street.

One man remarked that it was not safe on that street to even lay anything down for a minute. In most cases it appears to be children, but at Dr. Rabinovitch's a man with two meadows was up in his pear tree at 4 o'clock in the morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McBroome were at the Willimantic camp ground on Sunday.

Arnold Brown was at home from Hartford over Sunday, making the trip on his motorcycle.

A Vito Company Lowest Bidders.
The A. Vito Construction company of Thompson is the lowest bidder for three contracts that are to be awarded this week by Highway Commissioner MacDonald for state road work. The bids are for 4,555 feet of gravel road in Plainfield, 18,460 feet of gravel macadam road in Ellington and for 12,750 feet of gravel-macadam to be put in the town of Somers, the total value of the contracts being about $67,000.

Notice of Reward for New York Crooks.
Capt. John Murray has received from the police department of the city of New York the circulars that announce a reward of $5,000 for the apprehension of the Blood and Lefty Louie, two of the gunmen wanted in connection with the sensational killing of Herman Rosenthal. The two crooks were reported about two weeks ago to be in this vicinity.

Legal Restraint Withdrawn.
Local newsmen have been notified of the withdrawal of the legal restraint placed upon them in connection with the suit for slander brought against a Boston paper which they sent the said paper some time since having printed an article about a resident of Dayville and an employee of the Connecticut company running a motor man on the Putnam lines to which serious exception was taken.

Saving $1000 in Teachers' Salaries.
The town school committee of Putnam is saving about $1,000 in teachers' salaries by combining the positions of principal of the high school and superintendent of schools in this town; and the committee believes that the teachers engaged for the coming year are fully as competent as any teaching force that the town has had.

A prominent French Canadian resident of this city said Saturday that Raymond J. Jodoin of St. John's, N. B., has very strong support from his countrymen in his effort to secure the nomination for congress as a democrat from the Second district, and that in case he gets the nomination they would also be with him at the election. Mr. Jodoin is better known in this section of the district than is Mayor Bryan P. Mahan of New London, prominently considered for the nomination.

ONLY MISSIONARIES WHO STAYED.

Rev. Mr. Beard's Family Remained in Fochow When Nearly 200 Others Left.

The following appeared in the calendar of the Congregational church for Sunday: Those who attended the Thursday evening midweek service were greatly interested and encouraged by the first hand report of the deliverances of our missionaries during the Boxer rebellion, given by Mr. Beard. Out of 200 missionaries Mr. Beard's family and a few others were the only ones who did not leave Fochow. They stayed because they felt it their duty to stand by the native Christians. Although permission to leave was granted them, Mr. Beard felt that divine protection and deliverance was granted them all, for not one was injured.

Entertained Major and Mrs. Dion Williams.

Major and Mrs. Dion Williams have been guests of the family of George A. Hammond during the past week, much of their time here being devoted to motor trip through the surrounding country. Major Williams, whose home is in New London, is stationed in Washington, D. C.

EGG PRODUCTION GAINING.

Three Breeds Tied for Week in Storrs. Contest—Records of Individuals.

The total number of eggs laid during the 43rd week of the egg laying contest at Storrs was 1,710. This still is an increase over past weeks, something unexpected. The yield is over 33 per cent. at first place. There were three pens that tied for first place in the weekly production, each laying 19 eggs: Bred Plymouth Rocks owned by Mrs. J. W. Walden of Middlebury, Md.; White Wyandottes owned by Mrs. C. Canoe of DeWitt, N. Y.; and Single Comb White Leghorns owned by George H. Schmitt of Chicago, Ill. Next in the weekly production was a pen of Single Comb White Leghorns owned by Paul Van Dusen of Danvers, Vt., which took third place with 24 to its credit.

The following is a list of the leading Connecticut pens as they stand to date, with the total number of eggs laid each: Frederick Peaslee of Cheshire, Single Comb White Leghorns, 301; S. Scoville of East Haven, Rose Comb Rhode Island Reds, 243; H. P. Fleming of Robertsville, Single Comb Rhode Island Reds, 240; H. E. Moore of Winsted, Single Comb White Leghorns, 233; A. J. STONINGTON PASTOR RESIGNS.

Rev. George B. Spalding to Leave Road Church—Considering Call to Rocky Hill.

Rev. George B. Spalding, pastor of the First Congregational (Road) church of Stonington, read his resignation Sunday morning at the regular service of the church.

Spalding has been pastor of the church for four and one-half years, coming from Hartsford Springs, N. Y., where he was obliged to give up his pastorate because of ill health. He was graduated from Yale in the class of 1892 and from the Theological seminary in 1896. He was ordained to the ministry in 1901 and for a time was an assistant in Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst of New York.

Mr. Spalding is considering a call to the Rocky Hill church, near Hartford. The resignation is to take effect September 25.
